Valentino "Sheik" Of Silent Drama, Dies in Hospital

Famous Movie Actor Dies in New York at Noon Following Relapse on Sunday—Born in Italy—Rose From a Brass Polisher to Stardom—Gained Fame in "The Sheik"—Recently Challenged Editorial Writer to Fight.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Rudolph Valentino, original "sheik" of the movies died today. Death occurred at 12:10 o'clock eastern daylight time at the Polyclinic Hospital.

The screen star had been in the hospital for eight days and although at first he was reported in critical condition, improvement had been shown during the latter part of last week and it was thought that he had been safely on the road to his recovery. Last night, however, he suffered a relapse, due to pleurisy, which set in in his left chest, due to weakness following a double operation for acute appendicitis and gastric ulcers and accompanying local peritonitis.

From Brass Polisher to Stardom. Los Angeles, Aug. 23 (AP).—From a brass polisher and a landscape gardener to the heights of screen stardom was the stride made by Rudolph Valentino, filmstar's "perfect lover" in his 13-year span of life in the United States.

Born in Italy. The movie sheik was born in the little Italian village of Castellaneta, May 6, 1895. His full name was Rudolph Alfonso Raffaello Pierre Filibert Guglielmi di Valentina d'Antonguella. His mother was the daughter of a Parisian doctor, Pierre Filibert Barbin. His father, Giovanni Guglielmi was in his youth a captain of Italian cavalry and later a veterinary doctor.

When Valentino was eleven his father died and the future screen lover matriculated at Dante Alighieri College. Finishing here at the age of 13 he entered the military college Del La Bapionza at Perugia. From this school he was sent home because of breaking discipline to see the King, who was visiting the school.

Enters Military Academy. He went to Venice to try for the naval examinations but failed there and returned home for a year. He then entered the military academy at Genoa, from which he was graduated at the age of 17 with the degree of doctor of agriculture.

Finding farm life little to his liking, he drew all the legacy coming to him from his father and went to Paris, the Riviera, and Monte Carlo followed quickly and at last Paris again in bankruptcy. According to his own accounts, he sold his automobile to two Irish jumpers to pay debts, the remainder of which were settled by his mother.

Arrives in New York. America attracted him and he arrived in New York December 23, 1917, with $4,000 given him by his mother. He set out to learn English by taking private lessons. Between his studies and odd jobs he began frequenting cafes where he took up dancing.

He shifted from one job to another, tackling landscape gardening for a time in Central Park. His quest for work found him doing everything from sweeping out stores to shining brass on automobiles.

Becomes Dancing Instructor. The start of his career as a professional dancer came when he persuaded the head waiter at Maxim's to give him a job as an entertainer. Later he traveled with a musical comedy and at Oakland, California, he became a dancing instructor.

Starts on Road to Fame. Drifting to Los Angeles, he met Emmet J. Flynn, film director, who gave him his first part in pictures as a "heavy" at $50 a week. After appearing in several pictures, he was selected by June Mathis, scenario writer, for the part of Julio in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," a role which started him on the road to fame.

In November, 1915, Valentino married Jean Acker, screen actress, by whom he was divorced in January, 1922.

"The Sheik." The film career went on apace and Valentino became a matinee idol with his appearance in 1921 in "The Sheik," the first of a series of desert romances.

Before his divorce from Jean Acker became final, Valentino married a second time, to a woman named Walfred D. Wolfe Hudaut, dancer, and adopted daughter of the motion picture manufacturer. May 12, 1922, at Metairie, lower California, he was arrested and charged with bigamy and released on bond. Later the charge was dropped. The couple were married March 15, 1923, at Crown Point, Ind. A rift in the marriage appeared early in 1924 when Mrs. Valentino left for New York to return to the stage under the professional name of Natacha Rambova.

A "Trial Separation." It was rumored by the two a "trial separation." Mrs. Valentino later went to France, followed shortly by her husband. She obtained a Paris divorce last November. Valentino returned here to make "The Son of the Sheik," his last picture. His film career during his two marriages was anything but smooth sailing. Shortly after his divorce from Jean Acker, trouble arose with Rambova. Rambova, who was known as "The Venus of Egypt," then he broke his contract.

Hall Suspects Refused Bail

Justice Gummere Refuses to Admit Carpenter and Stevens to Bail—Matter Referred to Justice Parker Investigation Continues.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 23 (AP).—Chief Justice Gummere of the supreme court today refused to receive the application for bail of Henry de la Bruyere Carpenter and Willie Stevens, charged with the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

In declining to consider the application, Justice Gummere, who previously had admitted to $15,000 bail Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the rector also charged with the murders, said he had been requested by Justice Parker to refer to him any such application.

Justice Parker, who is at North-east Harbor, Me., on vacation, presides in Somerset county, where the crimes were committed.

Carpenter and Stevens, who were held for the grand jury last week at a hearing in Somerset, are in Somerset county jail.

The refusal of Chief Justice Gummere came as a surprise to defense counsel, Robert H. McCarter, former attorney-general and chief counsel for Carpenter and Stevens said he would communicate with Justice Parker at once.

While the legal talent of both prosecution and defense gathered in this city for the hearing, investigators in Somerset continued their work. It was stated that several witnesses would be questioned today.

WILL INVESTIGATE DEATH OF GAINES INVESTIGATOR

Gaines' body was found in a gas-filled room here Tuesday. Wallace Cloyes Gaines, the girl's father, was convicted Thursday of murdering her and the penalty fixed at death by hanging. A note found near Gaines' body said: "Good-bye, I am kind of disappointed." Investigators declared the handwriting of the note did not appear to be Gaines'.

The detective's connection with the Gaines case was not revealed until after his death, although officials said he played an important part in uncovering links in the chain of evidence by which the state obtained Gaines' conviction.

Church Plans Future Course In Controversy

Action by Roman Catholic Episcopate Will Depend on Pope's Reply—League May Abandon Boycott When Services Are Resumed.

Mexico City, Aug. 23 (AP).—A special committee, headed by Archbishop Mora y del Rio and consisting of the archbishops and bishops here from various parts of Mexico, is studying carefully the future course of the Roman Catholic Episcopate in the present religious controversy with the government.

The committee is centering attention in the developments of the past few days, especially the turn that the situation has taken as a result of the conference on Saturday night between President Calles and Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores and Bishop Diaz of Tabasco.

Waiting For Pope's Reply. It is understood that the committee has been sending detailed cable communications to the Vatican through Monsignor Caruana at Havana, the Papal legate who recently was expelled from Mexico. Any action by the Episcopate concerning the registration of priests, as required by the new religious regulations and the suspension of church services is believed to depend on the Pope's reply.

Meanwhile the Episcopate's plan to seek congressional amendment of the religious clauses of the Constitution, as suggested by President Calles continues unchanged. A considerable time may pass before congress acts one way or the other upon the matter. Consequently the public is centering its hopes upon the possibility that the Episcopate will resume church services as a result of President Calles' assurance that the registration of priests is only for administrative purposes and that the government does not purpose to interfere with religious dogmas.

May Abandon Boycott. Although the Episcopate will not take any action on the economic boycott which was ordered by the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty, some in close touch with the situation think that the league will abandon the boycott whenever the Episcopate orders church services to be resumed. In other quarters, however, there is fear that the league may attempt to maintain the boycott until congress amends the Constitution, an act which would continue the present business distress for some months and possibly longer.

Extrada Adherents Still Active. Mexico City, Aug. 23 (AP).—The department of war is said to have been informed that a group of adherents of General Enrique Estrada recently crossed the border from California into Mexican territory in Lower California where federal troops routed them. The Estradistas are said to have suffered some casualties. The details of the engagement have not been revealed.

Military Commandant Marcelo at Chihuahua reports that quiet prevails in his district. Several known would-be revolutionists, he says, are being closely watched. The federal forces are prepared to crush any attempt at revolt.

Eddy Talks About God to Russians

Y. M. C. A. Professional Lecturer Debates Publicly With Two Russian Atheists on Existence of God—Atheists Win Decision.

Moscow, Aug. 23 (AP).—Sherwood Eddy, professional lecturer for the Y. M. C. A., who has been conducting a group of 20 or more American tourists around Russia, debated publicly yesterday with Michael Reissner, professor of law in Moscow University, and with the editor of the Bolshevik anti-religious publication, "The Godless One," on the existence of God.

This was the first time that any foreigner was allowed to speak on such a subject in Soviet Russia, and there is general surprise that an American should have preached religion in a country where the government of which is avowedly anti-religious.

Although the existing Bolshevik laws forbid teaching of religion to anybody under sixteen years of age, Mr. Eddy told his 4,000 Russian auditors that he was pleasantly surprised to find there was real liberty of religious worship in Russia. The audience, which was predominantly atheistic, expressed its opinion on the debate by giving the bulk of the applause to the Russian speakers.

Reissner himself following death of his wife.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Samuel Hillebrand, 71 years old, had often told his son during recent months that if his wife died before he did he would kill himself. Mrs. Hillebrand, who was 62 and had just died of natural causes and this morning the husband jumped in his death from a window at their home in West 104th street.

The son William, who lives in an adjoining building, told the police that his mother had been in ill health for some time, and that his father had said he would kill himself if she died.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.) New York—President Coolidge's pastor deplores that a prizefight has been thrust into the forefront of a great historic celebration. The Rev. Dr. Jason Nobel Pierce, Washington Congregationalist, giving his views at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, also said that elections were bought and sold today and that there were too many social climbers in political life.

Philadelphia—The Rev. John McNeill, Presbyterian, thinks Connie Mack has pulled a bone. Connie getting an injunction against interference with Sunday bill, said a Sunday game would not be so noisy as a week day one. Mr. McNeill rises to remark that it would be strange indeed, when Babe Ruth made a home run, if the fans should sing "Hallelujah."

Evian, France—Andrew W. Mellon is getting some exercise rowing a boat on Lake Geneva. There are no indications as yet that he has succumbed to the lure of fishing like Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Dawes.

Highlands, N. J.—More glory for Trudie Ederle, who learned to crawl here. Zane Steenrod a mere man, failed to swim the 26 mile channel from Santa Barbara to Santa Cruz Island, about the same time 32 men had to give up in trying to swim 9 1/2 miles in Boston Harbor.

Port Washington, N. Y.—None of the three women drivers won a race in the gold cup regatta, but the "weaker sex" has not been at this sport so very long. A fourth woman participant acted as mechanic in one race, even to wearing overalls.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Irony of fate: Mrs. Peggy Roome, stunt aviatrix, who had her pictures taken standing on an aeroplane wing up in the air, has been killed in an automobile accident.

New York—Fur coats worn on Fifth Avenue in August. The reason was a Sunday temperature of 58 degrees.

Asbury Park, N. J.—Marion Talley has been stunned by so many girls smoking in the east. Girls in the middle west don't puff nearly so much, she says.

Alexandria Bay, N. Y.—Irving Berlin is fishing from a motorboat named "Always." There are reports that the title of his next song will contain four letters.

New York—Americans who play at Monte Carlo better beware. The Times tells of an unnamed New York importer who lost $60,000 when his system of breaking the bank failed. Lacking enough cash, he gave a check, but homebound, stopped payment on it. The Casino started suit. When the importer next went to Europe he was shadowed and he and his wife were jailed at Ostend till he paid up. In Belgium, unlike many countries, a creditor can recover in court on a gambling debt.

Offers Miss Ederle $5,000 for thirty mile swim.

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP).—Don Graff, local sportsman has won an offer of $5,000 to Gertrude Ederle, American champion for a thirty-mile swim in the Sacramento River to start and end in this city. Graff is making the offer to the conqueror of the English Channel in conjunction with William Wrigley, Jr.'s offer of $10,000 for a swim from the mainland to the Catalina Islands as an added attraction to bring the New York ship to the Pacific coast.

Dr. Chandler Will Resume Practice in About 10 Days.

Dr. George F. Chandler, who injured his finger while performing surgical work and who has been unable to practice since the first of August, expects to be able to resume his practice within a week or ten days. His finger is improving and he expects it will be in such condition that he can take up his work as in the time stated.

Business Certificate Filed.

A certificate has been filed in the office of the clerk of court, dated by Thomas H. Jones, clerk of the court, that the grand jury, who met in the village of Remondino, town of Breckinridge, under name and style "Eminent Thos. Jones, being a member to William Jones."

Labor Leaders At Paul Smith's

William Green and Members of Executive Committee to Call on President Coolidge—Koenig Will Also Call—President Faces Busy Week.

Paul Smith's N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—Another busy week for President Coolidge opened today with a calendar of visits from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, the seven members of the organization's executive committee, Louis J. Tabor of Ohio, head of the National Grange, and Samuel Koenig, Chairman of the Republican committee of New York city.

The labor leaders, motoring here from Plattsburgh, were invited to luncheon at White Pine Camp, while Mr. Koenig had an engagement to meet the president at the summer executive offices. With Mr. Tabor the President desired to discuss agricultural conditions, particularly in the east, where most of the Grange's membership lives.

When Mr. Coolidge arrived in the Adirondacks, nearly seven weeks ago, it was suggested that he might not have as many callers this summer as last, which he spent at Swampscott, Mass., for the reason that White Camp seemed farther removed from the main lines of travel than was White Court. This forecast, however, has hardly been realized, for President Coolidge is receiving even more visitors here than he saw during his last vacation.

Cabinet members, Senators, industrial leaders, business men and others have come in considerable numbers, and indications are that still more will call before the chief executive returns to Washington, probably about the middle of next month.

Severely Hurt In Auto Mishap

Walkill Man, Standing In Roadway Near Highland Waiting For Car To Be Repaired Is Struck by Another Auto.

Sunday afternoon Robert Gooch of Walkill was severely injured near Highland when he was struck by an automobile while the car in which he had been riding was stopped along the roadway to make repairs. He suffered from a fractured leg and painful cuts and bruises about the face and head. He was taken to Poughkeepsie by ambulance.

Gooch, 43 years old, Morris Busch and William Benny of New York were traveling south in a Chevrolet car. The car was stopped to make repairs and all three left the car and stood in the roadway. Two cars approaching evidently frightened Mr. Gooch who attempted to leave the road and in so doing was struck by a car driven by Joseph McGrath of 627 Fifth street, Brooklyn. Trooper Miller was called and arrived at the scene. Poughkeepsie was notified and an ambulance was hastened to the scene and conveyed the injured man to Poughkeepsie in record time.

Following the accident traffic was tied up for some time and the south-bound cars piled up for a distance of over two miles. Considerable time was taken to get traffic moving.

Tear Bombs Used To Subdue Maniac

Man Becomes Suddenly Deranged and Locks Himself in Room Where He Shoots at Policemen—Tear Gas Bombs Finally Bring Him Out.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Tear gas bombs were used today to subdue Everett Holton, who suddenly became mentally deranged and fired at a squad of policemen at his home in Jamaica.

Holton, who is 45 years old, began to act queerly last night and his wife rushed into the street in her night clothes seeking police aid. When a policeman returned to the house with her, Holton locked the door and shot at them with a rifle.

Two bluecoats were summoned and Holton fired at them the police returning fire. They did not aim at him, but fired with the thought of frightening him. After twenty shots had been exchanged, a special squad of police from Brooklyn armed with tear gas bombs, arrived.

A policeman crawled up to the house and dragged the bomb into the hallway. Holton finally staggered out of the house and collapsed. He was taken to a hospital in a stretcher jacket.

Car Went Through Fence, Man Hurt

This morning a three-arrow automobile owned and driven by James Forbes of Yonkers skidded on a curve on the state road at Yonkers near E. H. Wheeler's residence and went through the fence, wrecking the car and injuring Forbes who was hurled to the Kingston City Hospital where an X-ray will be taken of his injuries. He appeared to be injured about the side and back. His wife, who was in the car with him, was apparently uninjured. The wrecked car was towed to the garage of Post Evans and International in the Delaware Avenue Garage in this city.

Grand Old Man Of Harvard Dies At Summer Home

Dr. C. W. Elliot, President of Harvard College for Forty Years, Dies at Age of 92—Often Spoken of as "America's First Citizen"—Elected President of Harvard at 35—Funeral Services on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Northeast Harbor, Me., Aug. 23 (AP).—Charles William Elliot for 40 years the president of the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, Harvard University, and since 1909 its president emeritus, lay dead here today.

The end came peacefully yesterday to the man who was often spoken of as "America's first citizen," while he rested at his summer home.

Man of letters, chemist, mathematician, orator, athlete, educator, administrator, author, and university president, Dr. Elliot had combined in the 92 years of his long life the attainments of the scholar with a practical grasp of public affairs that brought his election at 35 as the head of Harvard.

Born in Boston in 1834 during the administration of Andrew Jackson, he lived to survive all but two of the 28 presidents of the United States who were his contemporaries.

Recent years saw little apparent diminution in Dr. Elliot's interests and his eightieth birthday was made the occasion of an especial demonstration of esteem by the institution whose alumni had presented him with $150,000 on his retirement. Chief Justice Taft was the principal speaker before a distinguished gathering in Cambridge while the observation was general by Harvard clubs throughout the world.

Dr. Elliot had been in delicate health since he came here early in the summer. His son, the Rev. Samuel A. Elliot of Cambridge, who also has his summer residence here, was present at the end. Mrs. Elliot died in 1924.

Funeral services will be held in the Union Church here on Tuesday at noon, and in Appleton Chapel at Harvard University, Cambridge, on Wednesday. Interment will be at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

ST AND MARY WERE HERE ON SATURDAY

Kingston citizens were given a treat Saturday when "St" and "Mary Stebbins," the original Barnum and Bailey Rubens, in their Whippet Sedan passed through town in costume, enroute to Albany, N. Y., where they will be a featured attraction at the Willys-Overland Motor exhibit.

While in town St and Mary took the opportunity of visiting their friend, George J. Schryver, local Willys-Overland dealer, and while at his place, consented to perform a few of the antics and mystifying card tricks for which they are famous, for the large crowd which had collected. St and Mary have been featured in many of the best vaudeville theatres in the country and were recognized by many local citizens who had seen them in their circus days.

St and Mary informed a reporter that they had driven their Whippet several hundred miles and that it was by far the finest performer they had ever been privileged to drive.

BELGIANS MAKE EFFORT TO STABILIZE THE FRANC.

Brussels, Aug. 23 (AP).—The Belgian government hopes to stabilize the franc somewhere in the neighborhood of 160 to the pound sterling and to that end has begun negotiations with British bankers for credits of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. It was learned today.

Similar negotiations in the United States are said to have been dropped because of unfavorable conditions in the New York market.

Reimbursement of the National Bank of Belgium with 1,500,000,000 francs is said to be one of the government's new proposals. This would enable important reduction in the circulation of the bank and provide the means to give certain gold guarantees on outstanding notes.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS KILL ONE AND WOUND ANOTHER

Chicago, Aug. 23 (AP).—Gangsters slain today, killing one and wounding another.

Two men walked deliberately up to the automobile of Michael Blando, a restaurant owner, and fired a fusillade that killed him. His wife, in the front seat with him, was unharmed but Joseph Varenola, 19, in the rear seat, was shot in the left lung. He may die.

The two had attended a Stilian celebration and had just gotten into the automobile when the attack occurred. The gunmen escaped.

Whether a Stilian feud, the alleged war, or revenge for other killings lay behind the shooting, police were unable to determine.

Potato Growers Stopped Here

A delegation of 51 potato growers from Pennsylvania arrived at the Hotel Stuyvesant Sunday night in two large automobiles of the Keystone Automobile Club of Philadelphia. The party stopped over night here and left after breakfast for Maine. The growers represent different counties and the tour is under direction of the Pennsylvania State College, division of agricultural extension. Charles K. Hallowell, Philadelphia county agent, was in charge of the party. The men, who are extensive growers of potatoes, will visit and inspect the potato fields in Maine and will go to Canada farms before returning to Pennsylvania.

Farmers Strong For Enforcement

Master of National Grange Informs President Coolidge—Koenig Says Gubernatorial Nomination Is "Up to the Convention."

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—The farmer is stronger for law enforcement than ever before, President Coolidge was informed today by Louis J. Taber, of Ohio, Master of the National Grange.

Mr. Taber, who also reported to Mr. Coolidge on agricultural conditions, told the chief executive that his organization was "very strongly" in favor of the work being done by Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, and that it believed Mr. Andrews was beginning to "plug up the ratholes." Receiving newspapermen after talking to the President, Mr. Taber said he had returned from a recent trip to Europe "a lot drier" than he went over. The low wages, low standards of living and long working hours in Europe had convinced him, he asserted, that Americans must stay dry.

Although the condition of the farmer is "a little better" than last year, he is still a long way from his pre-war situation, Mr. Taber advised President Coolidge.

Samuel S. Koenig, chairman of the Republican committee of New York county, called on President Coolidge at the executive offices today. The visit was said to have been social in character, with politics mentioned only casually.

Talking with newspaper correspondents after his call, Mr. Koenig said the Republican gubernatorial nomination in this state was "up to the convention." He expressed the opinion that the nominee would be selected because of his general qualifications, and not because of his stand on the liquor question, which he said would be incidental.

Lucky Men Get All

A lucky agreement is an arrangement by which a group of persons share certain losses or losses of such nature that in the event of the death or default of one or more members the chances are divided among the remaining members, each one person has the whole chance or advantage. In most modern insurance companies the whole goes to the survivor. In the group on the caption of the picture, the chances are divided.

Berlins Return Incognito

Irving Berlin and his bride, formerly Ellen Mackay, failed in an attempt to reach New York from London undiscovered. They were recognized at Quebec.

Up to Him.

The return of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin from Europe, and constant reports that they expected an heir renewed rumors that the bride and her father, Clarence Mackay (above), millionaire telegraph man, were to be recognized.

She'll Fight!

Mrs. Sebastian Kresge returned to America from abroad with the announcement that she would fight the divorce action brought by her husband, millionaire five and ten cent store operator.

Valentino Is Dead at Hospital

with that organization. There followed a two years' absence from the screen.

Returns to Famous Players.
He returned to Famous Players at the conclusion of two years to make "Monte Beauchamp" and "The Saluted Devil." "Cobra" was the product of his affiliation with Ritz-Carlton Pictures to which he aligned himself a short time afterwards. Valentino broke with Ritz-Carlton and signed with Joseph M. Schenck to make pictures for United Artists. His life was insured by the producer for a million dollars.

A "Trial Engagement."
In March 1926 an announcement was made of his "trial engagement" to Pola Negri.

Valentino leaves a brother and sister in Italy. The brother, Alberto Guglielmi, an attorney, with his family recently was a visitor at the star's home in Hollywood.

Takes Exception to Editorial.

Although the screen star's latest visit to New York was to end in tragedy his arrival here was marked by country-wide amusement occasioned by a Chicago editorial to which Valentino took angry exception. While passing through Chicago on his way here the actor read an editorial in the Chicago Tribune which linked his name with the use of pink powder puffs by men and which he interpreted as casting aspersions on his manhood.

He immediately, in a letter to the newspaper, challenged the anonymous editorial writer to a duel "American fashion" lists to replace the rapier. On arriving in New York he gave interviews in which he told in detail about his pugilistic intentions if he could ever establish the identity of the powder puff man. The name of the writer was not revealed, however, and the duel failed to materialize.

Valentino came east several weeks ago to attend the Broadway premiere of his latest picture and to bid farewell to his brother, who was returning to his home in Italy, after a visit.

Collapsed in Apartment.

He collapsed in his apartment here a week ago Sunday afternoon, and was rushed to the hospital, where an immediate operation was decided upon. Local peritonitis set in shortly after the operation, and doctors announced that only his rugged constitution could save him from the infection becoming general, a condition which usually results in death.

Was Reported Out of Danger.

Valentino rallied, and on last Wednesday was reported definitely out of danger, barring further complications. The physicians ceased the regular issuance of bulletins regarding his condition. The statement that he had developed pleurisy followed the terse report of a relapse.

Receives Many Messages.

Thousands of messages of sympathy from personal friends of the actor and "fan" admirers, flooded the hospital throughout his illness. Numbers of persons sought to gain entrance to his suite, to wish him good luck in his fight, but even his closest friends were barred by the special guard set at the door. Aside from S. George Ullman, his manager, who accompanied him to the hospital, no one but the doctors and nurses were admitted to the sick room until last night, when Joseph Schenck, head of the United Artists' Film Corporation, was admitted for a brief farewell visit.

Gifts, ranging from flowers to holy water and religious relics, were sent him by hundreds of persons from all over the country. The only statement made by the actor after he went to the hospital, was one of thanks for the sympathy of his admirers.

Former Wholes Salesman.

During his illness both Valentino's former wife, Jean Arker, screen actress, and Winifred Hudnut (Natcha Rambova) a dancer, were especially solicitous as to his condition, and Pola Negri, film star to whom he had been reported engaged, called frequently by telephone from Los Angeles.

Schenck Will Do the Work.

The work on the state highway between Catskill and Poughkeepsie is being done exclusively by David Schenck, Inc., of Saugerties. The statement, made in The Freeman on last Friday, that four miles of the road was to be constructed by the Farber Gill Company, is incorrect.

Human Nature

Our nature is not simple and straightforward. It is good, bad, or indifferent. It is many-sided; all edges and facets. It depends on what light catches them whether they show light or dark. Even then it's only the parts that catch the light that show at all. From "Whipped Cream" by Geoffrey Ham.

Nervous Human Eye

The eye is the first strike; the doorway which it forms to the second, and through which the primary figure is exposed without end. It is the highest emblem in the cipher of the world.—Emerson.

Snyder Property Sold.

The thirty acre farm located in Hurley, for the past fifty years owned by Charles A. Snyder and admired by many, has been sold to A. Spacha of New York city. Mr. Spacha has already taken possession of the farm and will make many improvements. It is bounded on the north by the state highway and on the southwest by the Esopus creek. Mr. Snyder has erected a choice building site of some acre and is constructing for himself a modern home. This sale was negotiated by F. S. Hyatt, broker for the Ulster Realty Agency.

READER'S PLAINFIELD THEATRES CLOSED SUNDAY.

There were no Sunday movies at Plainfield, N. J., on Sunday, according to a despatch to the New York Times. Both Reader's Oxford and Strand Theatres were closed in accordance with the previous announcement by David W. Rogers, resident manager, who decided to await the results of litigation in a similar case now before the United States Court and the report of a special committee to be made at the next state legislature on the subject.

In case the theatres were opened Sunday Rogers would have been summoned before Mayor James T. McMurray to show cause why the licenses should not be revoked.

Many Minor Accidents Sunday.

Several minor automobile accidents were caused Sunday by reason of the wet, slippery roadways. Travel from the mountains was heavy and the storm delayed traffic. At Ashokan a Jewett sedan skidded from the roadway, went over the bank and into the ditch but fortunately did not overturn. Several cars were stopped and with the assistance of occupants the ditched car was prevented from overturning while it was driven from the ditch under its own power.

Four Growing Populations.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Hammond, 104 Henry street, a daughter, Helen Ida.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Mulharg, Baltimore, Md., a son, Thomas, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Gormley, Phoenixville, a daughter, Mary, at the Benedictine Hospital.

Jews in Exile

The Jews, contrary to general supposition, were not settled after the captivity ending in the city of Babylon, but in the country of Babilonia, a large part of which is now known as Mesopotamia. The disease they traveled in their return to Jerusalem, therefore, was between 300 and 308 miles.

THE LEAGUE ON TRIAL.

The smaller nations can be kept within proper bounds because, as Uncle Remus told the little boy, referring to the inability to carry their point by some of the weaker animals at a convention of the quadrupeds, their "endings" is "powerful lack-in." It is quite another matter when the most powerful nations step across boundaries in pursuit of their material interests—which is the situation now facing anxious Abyssinia. Great Britain, France and Italy are all aggressively disposed to proceed with certain plans for the "peaceful penetration" of the last independent kingdom of Africa, whose relatively advanced people, though black, are not of what is known as the negro race. France has already constructed a 600-mile railway from Djibouti, the seaport, to Addis Abeba, the capital. Great Britain wants to build a storage dam at the outlet of Lake Tsana so as to control the headwaters of the Blue Nile and thus improve the irrigation of her extensive cotton plantations in the Sudan. Italy desires to build a 2,000-mile railroad connecting Italian Somaliland with her Red Sea colony of Eritrea.

But the Abyssinian government is not favorable to these projects and insists on its rights of sovereignty.
In laying the matter before the League of Nations, the Abyssinian government makes solemn protest, in part as follows: "Throughout their history the people of Abyssinia have seldom met with foreigners who did not desire to possess themselves of Abyssinian territory and destroy our independence. With the help of God and thanks to the courage of our soldiers we have always stood proud and free upon our native mountains.
We should like to hear from members of the League whether they think it right that pressure should be exerted upon us which they themselves would doubtless never accept."

If three of the small nations, with influence "powerful lackin'," were proceeding with such enterprises against the wishes of Abyssinia, the League of Nations could readily call a halt and its ruling would be obeyed. But in the case of such great powers as Britain, France and Italy, with vast industrial interests involved, and in an age when vast industrial interests command even governments, the matter has a very different complexion. Inevitably the League will see the need of proceeding deliberately and with caution, for the influence of Great Britain, France and Italy is not lacking within the Council of the League itself.
The problem is, therefore, one of the most serious, if not the most serious, that the League has so far been called on to tackle. Not only is Abyssinia's sovereignty at stake but the League itself, its position as an international organization aiming to preserve world order and peace, is on trial.

It now develops that the gas industry is producing a fixed-nitrogen as a by-product. This is ammonium sulphate, which can be spread over the fields like lime. The cost of recovery in small gas plants has prevented general use of this article, but the larger plants are now able to supply it on a commercial basis. One New York state gas plant is producing 1,000 tons a year, while a Chicago plant is marketing nearly 10,000 tons a year, or enough fertilizer for about 1,000,000 acres. When it is understood that the average wheat yield in the United States is 12.5 bushels to the acre with 2.1 pounds of fertilizer, and that in Belgium, the yield is 25.5 bushels with 30.6 pounds of fertilizer, farmers can readily see the advantage of actively fertilizing their land.

In his recent talk broadcasted from London, Wm. Rogers assured the British public that the Prince of Wales is "a wonderful little fellow."
From all accounts he is, in spite of the criticisms that might have made him indolent and but somewhat One of these harmful criticisms has just been indicated by R. B. Stewart, professor of history at Oxford, who after telling an American audience that the Prince when a student was not required to take examinations, went on to say: "You could not examine a man who would be your Kink, you know; besides, some one might be found who was better than His Highness, and that would be very embarrassing."

will be provided with Pullman berths, a fact indicating the advance in luxury as well as of safety in air travel.

MORE ABOUT LIME.

Our research men tell us that asthma, hay fever, and eczema are due to a great extent to the same cause, that is a deficiency of lime in the system. Two United States research men experimented on four hundred individuals to estimate the lime content in the blood. Two hundred were normal, and two hundred were patients with asthma, hay fever, eczema and other conditions due to lack of lime.

They established what they considered the normal amount that should be in the blood. Of the blood of the patients mentioned above 42 per cent were found to be considerably below the average in lime. These patients deficient in lime were advised to eat plenty of the foods rich in lime, and to get as much sunshine as possible. The foods that shine as possible. The foods that are particularly rich in lime are eggs (yolk), fresh milk, cheese, whole wheat bread, oranges, carrots, cabbages and other leafy vegetables, oatmeal, prunes, almonds, walnuts and peanuts.

Then to give the sunshine, the artificial air cooled quartz mercury vapor lamp was used, with the patients lying down stripped to the waist, completely relaxed, for a period of three minutes on back and then on front of body, with burner 24 inches from body. The next treatment was for five minutes front and back with lamp 2 or 3 inches nearer, until finally the treatment lasted for 30 minutes front and back with the lamp just 12 inches from the body.

The treatments were given twice a week. This artificial sun treatment has to be handled carefully and treatment adjusted according to the reaction of the skin.

The results of the lime and sun treatment were: 30 per cent cured, 24 per cent relieved, 43 per cent improved and 3 per cent unimproved.

What is that a deficiency in lime prevents the blood from building tissue properly and takes some of the fighting power from it also. For your growing boy or girl it means poor teeth, weakened bony structure, and a lack of fighting power in the blood.

So see that the youngsters get the foods mentioned above, and also plenty of sunshine.

French Farmer Opens Sock as Franc Falls

Paris, Aug. 23 (AP).—For probably the first time in the history of French agriculture the French peasant is spending money lavishly.

Watching the franc tumble on the world exchange, and seeing the money he had two years ago with less than half its purchasing power today, the French farmer has decided money isn't so much anyway. Anyone who knows the character of this class of agriculturists, will realize this is nothing short of revolutionary.

While the solons have been arguing in the Chamber and Senate, the peasant has been going stoically along the road trod by his fathers and grandfathers, paying little attention to politics, but working early and late in the fields with the same methods as did his forefathers, and placing his profits in the traditional woolen sock.

A Deliberate Thinker.

He is rather a logical person, this son of the French soil with his wooden shoes clumping along the country road—it may take him a long time to change his mind and to adopt a new method or arrive at a new conclusion, but when he does he is the most "set" individual in the world.

He has now become "set" in the idea that something he can use, or even gaze at, is better than money hidden away which may be worth nothing tomorrow, and he is buying light trucks, and even touring cars. He also is laying in harvesters and mowing machines at the end of July when his crops for the year are in and he will have no use for them for another twelve months.

Hoard Wheat.

Furthermore he is not selling his wheat but is leaving it at home—and this is why the price of bread is nearly three francs a kilo in Paris. The peasant argues that wheat is money anyway, and why should he sell it for worthless paper?

No matter where one travels in France these late days in summer, whether down through the rich valley of the Loire or in the equally rich farming country of Normandy, at the stations of every little town he will see consignments of new farming machinery. American in make, waiting to be hauled away to the French farms.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Have a shelf, cupboard or some place protected from dust for empty boxes. Arrange them in order of size, then when a box is needed for some purpose it is quickly found.

If there are those in the home who persist in using the woodwork on which to scratch matches, smear a little vaseline over the spot generally used.

After a few attempts to scratch a match on the greasy surface even the most persistent offender will reform.

Open closets or holders to handle food in hot dishes should be large enough to be used in both hands; this will save many burns.

A pocket on the inside of an apron will save tearing on door knobs and latches.

Place a small piece of camphor gum in the silver drawer or cupboards where the silver is kept. It will save much cleaning, as the camphor will keep it from tarnishing.

A clothes-pin bag fastened to a clothes hanger is a great convenience. To save stooping when hanging out clothes it can be pushed along on the line.

A nut cracker makes a good wrench for small bottles with screw tops.

A heavy wall paper such as the oatmeal paper may be tinted when faded with any color or special tint desired. Often the paper is faded but perfectly good. With a good wash of some that it is new and fresh again.

The lower stair of the back stairs put on linoleum makes a fine place for rubber, overshoes and other things which are often mislaid.

When patching a tear in wall paper, tear—do not cut—the paper to be used as a patch. The uneven edges are not so easily noticed.

A sewing machine needle which has become blunt can be sharpened by striking a few times through every paper.

A piece of emery paper is useful in rubbing shiny spots on clothes.

A handful of raisins added to any candy mixture will improve it; also any fruit salad.

State Banks Show Growth

The figures made public today by Frank H. Warder, Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York, show a remarkable growth in resources, deposits, capital and surplus for the past year.

A gain of $525,937,000 in resources, $351,687,000 in deposits, $22,660,000 in capital employed, and $104,017,000 in surplus and undivided profits is shown, the figures for June 30, 1926, being as follows: Resources $11,280,477,000, deposits $9,703,265,000, capital $309,365,000, and surplus and undivided profits $896,299,000. The figures for these items on June 30, 1925 were as follows: Resources $10,754,450,000, deposits $9,361,578,000, capital $286,695,000, and surplus and undivided profits $792,282,000.

The figures submitted include 266 banks of discount, 120 trust companies, 69 private bankers and 148 savings banks against 264 banks of discount, 109 trust companies, 75 private bankers and 147 savings banks on June 30, 1925, a net gain of 7 institutions in the year. In addition to the large growth in resources and deposits the figures indicate a substantial strengthening in the security afforded the depositors of these institutions.

The 602 institutions reporting to the Superintendent of Banks of the State of New York represent 7 1/2 per cent in number and 44 1/2 per cent in resources of all the National banks in the United States.

The figures reported do not include approximately 600 other institutions under the supervision of the New York State Banking Department, such as savings and loan associations, investment companies, safe deposit companies, personal loan companies and credit unions.

The resources of 7,978 National banks in the United States, Hawaii and Alaska on June 30, 1926, were $25,315,624,000, according to the figures made public by the Comptroller of the Currency. These figures represent an increase since June 30, 1925, of about $1,000,000,000.

Eleanor Gunn On Fashions

TO BE CHIC, ONE MUST BEGIN AT THE GROUND—ONE'S FOOT-MAKER HAS A DEAL TO DO WITH THE ENSEMBLE.

One's shoes are second to nothing in importance these days. They must have distinction and elegance, and be on friendly terms with the tout ensemble. This means that the well-shod woman has more shoes than hats, for just now the demand continues to be for novelties, in spite of a reawakened interest in patent leathers.

A White Kid Strapped Slipper With Insets of White Pigskin Trimmed with Kid.

One might suppose that a patent leather shoe was democratic enough to mingle with gowns of several classifications, but it must be borne in mind that the tilt of the heel, the angle of the strap, and the method of decoration are inclined to indicate certain restrictions. Single straps are seemingly meeting with the biggest response, but that statement does not wholly cover the case, for straps may assume a curving or a diagonal line and are by no means confined to the across-the-Instep, or anklet, type.

Patent Leather Slipper With Novelty Strap Arrangement Has Insets of Snake-skin or Lizard.

The combination of two or more materials for footwear continues to intrigue the bootmaker. There are slenderizing touches of metal kid on some satin shoes for evening, and many reptiles have been trodden under foot by as many daughters of Eve, their skins often being used with suede in very telling effect.

Brown suede has had a successful introduction, and is regarded as important for early autumn, when, rumor has it, so many of us will be wearing wall-flower and nasturtium colorings, or dressing in the African browns which seem to have a particular bearing on footwear. Protein in Milk

Milk helps repair the wear and tear of the body. It is as good as meat for building muscle. Moreover, it is cheaper. A quart of milk will supply as much protein as seven ounces of sirloin steak or four large eggs. Milk, particularly evaporated milk, which has twice the mineral content of market milk, is one of the best and cheapest sources of lime, which is a form of calcium.

Infants and growing children need lime to build bones and teeth. It is just as necessary for adults to keep their bones in good condition. One quart of milk, or one pint of evaporated milk, furnishes as much calcium as ten large oranges, thirty-two eggs or twenty pounds of beef. Milk also is a valuable source of phosphorus and supplies a certain amount of iron.

Ancient Fairs

The Lelpia fairs are among the oldest and most important in Europe, dating probably to the Twelfth century. There are two a year. The Jubilate fair lasts from the first Monday in March until the Saturday of the following week, while the Michaelmas fair begins on the last Sunday of August and continues three weeks.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LUCY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Lucy is a year older. She hadn't really anything to do with it at all. She just became a year older.

It was because of the days and the moments and the hours which kept mounting up until a whole year had passed by since her last birthday.

And so Lucy became a year older. Her birthday started early in the morning—it started before she woke up, but then no one counts the part of a birthday that is spent in sleeping.

She got two pretty birthday cards in the mail during the morning.

She got a ten-dollar bill from a dear old neighbor who was celebrating his eighty-first birthday.

Lucy kissed him eighty-one times and gave him eighty-one hugs, and that makes a good many kisses and a good many hugs, you know.

Lucy said she was going to get a coat with part of her money, after she had talked it over with her mother, and with the rest of the money she would get an ice cream soda. As you can see, most of the money would be spent on the coat.

But a birthday ice cream soda would be nice.

She planned to have it on the day after her birthday, as on the birthday itself she was going to have ice cream and cake.

Now the decorations at Lucy's birthday party are always pink and white. The decorations at Jennie's birthday party are always yellow and white. Her birthday comes earlier in the year.

On Lucy's birthday table—or rather on the table which was set for the party—and in the very center was a rose bush made of paper with a big, crinkly pink rose on the top.

Attached to the rose were pink and white ribbons, and these ribbons led down to place cards by each place.

At the end of the pink-and-white ribbons in the big pink rose were pretty favors. There were owls and alligators and deer and rabbits—not real ones, you know, of course, but little toy ones.

Everyone's place card had his or her name written upon it, and in the corner of each place were two little birds, standing close together.

They were blue birds.

There were pink snappers beside each place and the plates for the ice cream were edged with green and a flowery pattern in with the green which made them look very flowery and summery.

Then about the big rose bush were little cardboard boys and girls carrying cardboard and paper palisades and shovels on their way to play in cardboard sand.

There were pink-and-white peppermints and there was pink-and-white ice cream.

The cake was very beautiful. It had pink decorations all around the bottom of it, and it was iced in white.

Then across the top Lucy's name and the year of her birth and the date of the present year, were iced in pink, and decorating the sides and the border were the prettiest pink grapes and pink leaves, all made out of icing.

Really, you've no idea how pretty little pink grapes do look, even if there aren't any pink grapes in reality.

The guests for the party played games and then danced, too.

Oh, they had an extremely good time, and Lucy kept shouting to all her guests in turn, her voice getting louder and louder with excitement, which is after all, the only way.

It was as nice a birthday as Lucy had ever had, and she has had some pretty nice birthday parties. She was given many nice presents, but she particularly loved a silver bracelet which her mother gave her.

GAS BEGINS FOR ME AND AMY—Holding the Fort.

ALTHOUGH ALL OF HENRY'S OTHER FRIENDS DESERTED HIM WHEN PETRIFIED GAS BLEW UP, MORACE AND MATTIE HOOK, HIS POOR RELATIVES FROM PUGET SOUND, REFUSE TO BE STAMPEDED AND ARE STILL STANDING BY.

I BARELY HAD TIME TO THROW ON A KIMONO, WHEN I MARCHED TWO BRUTES WHO YANKED THE BED APART AND WALKED RIGHT UP WITH IT. AMY CLAIMS THEY HADN'T PAID FOR IT AND SHE COULDN'T STOP 'EM.

THAT'S JUST A STALL HEM THING UP TO GET RID OF US WITHOUT PAYING BACK OUR $1000 WE SUNK IN HIS PETRIFIED GAS. WELL! IT WON'T WORK.

AND OF ALL THE DICKS AMY GAVE ME ABOUT THE CLOTHES I BOUGHT AND HAD CHARGED TO HER. SHE SAID IF I FOUND THE FLOORS TOO HARD, TO SELL MY WARDROBE AND GO BACK TO PUGET SOUND.

WE'LL FOOL 'EM. WE'LL STICK RIGHT IN THE HOUSE TILL THE HANDS OF OUR DOUGH. DON'T STEP OUTSIDE THE DOOR. WE'D LIKE NOTHING BETTER TO SLAM IT IN OUR FACES.

I'LL KEEP THE HALL DOOR OPEN SO I CAN HEAR AMY AT THE ICE-BOX. WE WON'T GIVE 'EM ANOTHER CHANCE TO FORGET TO CALL US TO DINNER.

I'M KEEPING THE KEY TO OUR CAR IN MY POCKET. HE SAYS HE PAID FOR IT. I SAY HE GOT THE MONEY BY SELLING US PETRIFIED GAS STOCK, SO IT'S OURS. ALL HE WANTS IT FOR IS TO RUN IT DOWN TOWN TO SELL IT.

Quota Restriction Machinery Works More Efficiently

Immigration Increases Slightly as Countries Are More Successful in Filling Quotas—More Unskilled Workers Coming In and Less Going Out.

New York, Aug. 23.—Immigration during the fiscal year 1925-26, the second year under the two per cent quota act, showed a slight increase over that of the previous year, amounting to four per cent, but partly owing to declining emigration of aliens from the United States, our net gain in population through immigration was 13 per cent greater than the year before, according to analysts made by the National Industrial Conference Board, 247 Park avenue, New York.

Total immigration of aliens during the past fiscal year amounted to 304,488, as against 294,314 in the previous year. Only 76,992 aliens, 17 per cent less than in 1924-25, left the United States, leaving a net gain in population of 227,496, which is 64 per cent less than the net immigration during the fiscal year 1923-24, the last before the new restriction act went into effect.

On the whole, quota countries, during the fiscal year just closed succeeded more nearly in filling their quotas than in the previous year, due probably in large part to the better functioning of immigration administration machinery during the second year of experience with the law and its application. Of the total of 496,496 aliens admitted, which figure includes quota and non-quota immigrants and non-immigrants, 157,432 came in as quota immigrants, constituting 31.6 per cent of the total annual quota. During the previous fiscal year, only 38.6 per cent of the total quota had been filled.

Owing to many aliens being rejected upon inspection on arrival, the fact that a country does not fill its quota is not necessarily an indication that it does not have a long waiting list of applicants for admission to the United States, the Board points out.

Germany and Italy, in contrast to the previous year came very close to filling their quotas during the year just ended. Immigration from Great Britain (exclusive of the Irish Free State) actually fell off and was more than 4,000 short of its quota.

Change in Common Labor.
A noticeable change revealed by the Board's analysis is in the migration of alien common labor. While during 1924-25, the first year under the two per cent quota act, 15,106 more common laborers left the United States than entered, during the past fiscal year 43,543 entered and only 33,107 left, constituting a net gain of 10,436 for the year. Skilled labor came to the United States in greater numbers than the year before, our net gain in this class during the fiscal year being 47,147 as against 42,422 the year before. Farmers and farm laborers, however, came in smaller numbers, our net gain in this classification being 25,558 in 1925-26 as against 28,266 in 1924-25.

Professional people continue to come in increasing numbers, distinctly reflecting the great economic pressure inflicted upon their class in Europe since the war, according to the Conference Board's interpretation. While our net gain in professional people during the fiscal year 1924-25, the first after the two per cent quota act went into effect, was 8,267, our net gain during the past fiscal year was 9,641, again showing the rising trend of the influx of professional people noticeable ever since the war.

Canada and Mexico continue to furnish the bulk of our immigration under the new restriction act, neither country being subject to quota restriction. Immigration from Mexico appears to be increasing, that from Canada declining, as far as the past two years' figures indicate. Canada during 1925-26 contributed in excess of 91,000 immigrants, about 2,000 less than the year before, while Mexico sent 43,316, or about 10,000 more than the year before.

The pressure on immigration quota is clearly discernible in the immigration statistics in reference to countries whose emigration to the United States was most restricted by the new law, as for instance Italy or Greece. While Italy's quota is 3,845, actually 3,374 Italian immigrants entered the United States during the fiscal year 1925-26, the excess over the quota consisting of non-quota immigrants, such as wives and children of Italians having acquired citizenship here, returning Italian residents of the United States, world-war veterans and other Italians not chargeable to the quota. Including non-immigrant aliens admitted, such as students, visitors, merchants, persons in the diplomatic service and other governmental officials, a total of 31,723 Italian aliens entered the United States during the year.

The migration of Greek aliens, who are restricted to the minimum quota of 100, while much smaller in numbers, resembles that of the Italians. During the fiscal year just past, 1,385 Greek immigrants entered the United States, of which 100 came under the quota, and 12 more charged to last year's quota, the rest being non-quota immigrants. Including Greeks not coming as immigrants, but as students, visitors, and in governmental capacity, a total of 2,142 Greek nationals were admitted during the year.

Irish Immigration Stationary.
Immigration from the Irish Free State, which is credited with one of the largest three quotas, appears to be fairly stationary. 27,336 entering under the quota during the fiscal year 1925-26 as against 27,125 the previous year. The quota is 23,547. A total of only 5,147 non-quota immigrants and non-immigrants entered during the year from the Free State, making the total of alien admitted from southern Ireland 32,483 for the year. Total immigrants of the Irish race, which also includes Irish from Northern Ireland as well as Irish coming from other countries, amounted to 42,475 during the year, as against 42,661 the year before.

The exodus of Italians from the United States, so marked during the previous year, when it amounted to 27,252, was still heavy during the past fiscal year, 20,004 Italians leaving the United States during the year, constituting a net loss in Italian alien population of 10,630.

Members of the races or peoples named below during the fiscal year 1925-26 left in greater numbers than were admitted, the number given in each case giving the excess of emigrants over immigrants:

Bulgarians, Serbians and Montenegrins, 1,143; Chinese, 1,132; Dalmatians, Bosnians and Herzegovinians, 470; East Indians, 19; Greeks, 2,892; Italians, 10,630; Japanese, 403; Lithuanians, 46; Portuguese, 2,196; Rumanians, 983; Spaniards (European), 2,373; Slovaks, 116; Turks, 4; West Indians, (excluding Cuba), 287. Polish migration is comparatively heavy both ways, 3,175 having entered and 2,823 having left during the year. The figures given in this paragraph, however, cover immigrants and emigrants by race, not by political allegiance or place of birth.

The actual number of quota immigrants from Poland, that means of persons born in Poland was 6,336 during the year including probably a number of former Germans, Austrians and Rumanians, while another 5,134 persons of Polish birth were admitted as non-quota immigrants and non-immigrants.

Historic Abbey
Vallombrosa, a Benedictine abbey, is about fifteen miles east of Florence, Italy. It was founded about 1000 A. D. by John Gualbert. There magnificent conventual buildings, erected in 1473, are situated in a wooded valley of the Apennines, and are surrounded by forests of St. Paul and chestnut trees. The abbey was suppressed in 1806 and converted into a school of forestry. Vallombrosa was visited by Dante, and is mentioned in Ariosto's "Orlando Furioso," and by Milton in "Paradise Lost." It is much resorted to by artists and writers, but once its chief celebrity to the place made to it in literature.

CONQUERING THE PACKING MILES

John-Manville Sea Rings

Through literally thousands of miles of rod or plunger travel, Sea Rings last longer and function more efficiently. They conserve power and save wear on both rod and packing because they are constructed on scientific principles. Because the action of Sea Rings is automatic, they are supreme in preventing waste and stopping leakage. Like the marathon runners of old, Sea Rings cover the miles easily and thoroughly.

Every other member of the John-Manville Standard Seven Packings family is prepared to perform its individual engine room duties. They have durability. Meeting at least 32 ordinary plant requirements, Standard Seven Packings offer the boon of standardization. They simplify ordering, prevent delays and mistakes in using packing and guard against shut-downs. Let us tell you about Sea Rings and the "Other Six" long distance packings.

ELEVEN SLAIN IN FEUD OVER GIRL DEAD THREE YEARS

Guns Still Blazing in New York's Gangland Because of Love Rivalry.

New York.—The guns of New York city's gangland killers still are ready to blaze in a bloody feud over a girl who has been dead for three years. Eleven men have died in the feud. Any time the twelfth may be dropped with a bullet in his back or his heart. And all for the love of beautiful Yetchki Chargin, whose scorn of the love of a gang leader started the feud.

Deserted Gang Chief. Yetchki was just a girl, less than twenty-one, when she met Jack Kaplan, known as Kid Dropper, the leader of the Essex street gang. She scorned Kaplan when she learned he already had a wife. Later she fell in love with Louis Schwartzmann, a messenger for the Little Augies gang. Schwartzmann was killed one day as he embraced his sweetheart. The feud was on. The girl went into hiding and killed herself, three years ago.

Kid Dropper was arrested by the police in a roundup of known gangsters following the murder. He was freed in court. And he died in a pool of blood when Louis Cohen, a slim young friend of Schwartzmann, put a bullet in his heart just outside of the magistrate's office. Cohen was sent to prison for life.

Many Others Killed. In the years that followed eight other men were killed. One was an Essex street gangster. The next was sure to be a Little Augies man. Police foretold the deaths each time—but were powerless to prevent them.

The eleventh victim of the feud was Max the Witlack, a member of the Little Augies gang. He was shot to death as he stood at the telephone in the hall of his cheap restaurant. He tore the telephone from the wall and threw it at his assailants before he died.

At the funeral of Max the Witlack, his brother raised his hands to the sky and shouted: "I'll find the one who does it and get him, I swear I will!"

So police expect a Kid Dropper gangster to die next. They can't arrest anybody. Threats made under mental strain don't amount to much in court. Besides, Benny Goldberg's Max's brother, no doubt has friends who would be willing to help him keep his vow.

Weds Impostor as Old Friend; Seeks Divorce

New York.—She thought she was marrying a sweetheart of school days, but has learned her husband is an entirely different person, who kept his real identity a secret. Marion Wien, twenty-four, Newark, N. J., declared in a suit brought in Chancery court to have her marriage annulled.

Ten years ago, Miss Wien set forth, she was a pupil in St. John's parochial school. Among the pupils was a boy named Cyril Devine. When graduated, she says in her petition, she lost all track of Cyril.

Then one day in June, 1924, as she sat at the window of her father's store, a man sought the shelter of the awning outside during a shower. She invited him in, thinking he was Cyril Devine. She called him Cyril Devine and he accepted the name. The supposedly renewed acquaintance led to marriage January 4, 1925.

Dogs Fight Policeman, Guard Dying Master

Milwaukee.—Standing on guard over their dying master, two hounds fought off police for some time and refused assistance to others who endeavored to administer aid to the suffering man.

The dogs' master, David Hughes, eighty-one, died at Emergency hospital from heart disease an hour after he had been taken from his faithful guardians.

Having been forced to retreat, both animals lay on Hughes' body, but were finally driven off and their master taken to the hospital. It was evident that both animals had been suffering from hunger and thirst for some time.

Shut-Sinking Record

A record in shut-out sinking was made recently at the Sandhoppers' game when in South Africa, when 302 feet of shut out was made in 31 days. An average of 420 tons of trash was hauled out of the shaft each day.

Doctor Operates in 60-Mile Gale at Sea

New York.—With three men holding the operating table to steady it, and Captain Velberg keeping the Scandinavian liner United States headed into a 60-mile gale, Dr. Knud Bjerring, ship's surgeon, successfully removed the appendix from John E. C. Andersen, dancer of the Royal Danish ballet.

The United States was off the Grand banks, heading for Halifax. Andersen was landed at Halifax.

On arrival here Captain Velberg received a radiogram from the hospital at Halifax announcing Andersen was expected to recover and that the operation appeared to have been performed just in time.

TELLS OF MURDER WHILE ETHERIZED

Hospital Patient Talks Coming Out of Anesthetic.

Atlanta, Ga.—Babbling out the secrets of a murder which had long puzzled authorities of Fayette county, Georgia, a woman who was under an anesthetic for an operation implicated her own father in the crime.

The hospital patient whose uneasy mind forced incriminating words from her lips while she was unconscious is Mrs. Eula Samuels. She was a patient in a hospital here when she let slip her secret.

Then consciousness came and Mrs. Samuels found the sheriff by her bedside. Then she told almost all she knew about the killing of James Langston, a rural letter carrier of Fayetteville, Ga., whose lifeless body, the head shattered by blows from a heavy instrument, was found near his abandoned machine.

Events moved swiftly after the sheriff's conversation with Mrs. Samuels. The jealous wife of another suspect was questioned, and the alleged leader of the moonshine band which had planned the murder broke down and confessed.

It appears that Langston, a law-abiding churchman, had run afoul of the bootleggers by discovering tangible evidence of the existence and location of their stills. He told the authorities.

Enraged, the distillers determined to close his mouth permanently. John Waller, father of Mrs. Samuels, plotted the crime.

The upshot of Mrs. Samuels' revelations while she was coming out of the ether has been drastic. Eight men tried for the murder—eight men convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Youth Solves Mystery of Aged Man's Death

Los Angeles, Calif.—A boy fifteen years old has solved the mysterious slaying of M. P. Virgil, ninety-one-year-old hermit, who disappeared from his little cabin in Tulare county, Calif., almost a year ago. The boy is Michael Smith. Through evidence which he uncovered police have arrested Francisco Maebias, Mexican rancher. He is accused of murdering the aged man and will be tried soon.

Michael had an idea that Maebias killed the hermit to get a fortune the aged man was supposed to have hidden in his cabin. He had a conference with the district attorney and was told to see what he could learn about the case. The boy detective got acquainted with Ben, the young son of the Mexican rancher. The boys began searching for a buried treasure.

Michael telling Ben that he was the only person who knew where it was hidden. While the boys worked together they talked—until Ben told how he had seen his father bury the body of the aged hermit in a well on his ranch.

The authorities arrested the Mexican and recovered the body. The prisoner denied killing the aged man, but after many hours of questioning said he had slain him during a quarrel and in self-defense. Later the suspect said the hermit died of typhoid fever and that he had buried the body to prevent contagion. County authorities, however, believe the Mexican killed the hermit as he slept in his cabin.

Leaps to Engine That Crashes Into Truck

Philadelphia.—Harold Burgess, eighteen years old, Camden, probably saved his own life by climbing from an automobile truck, which he had been driving, to the compartment of a shifting engine on the Pennsylvania railroad after the engine had crashed into the machine.

His feat was performed while the engine dragged the automobile truck about 125 feet before it came to a stop. Burgess was rushed to the hospital, where it was found he suffered only nervous shock.

Voice and Hearing Restored by Fright

Lawrence, Mass.—Frightened by a policeman's flashlight, George Gibbs, deaf and dumb for nine years since he was wounded in the World war, is talking and hearing again. "You fool," shouted Gibbs as the flashlight was turned into his face while he slept in an empty house on Amherst street. They were the first words he had uttered since a bullet pierced his eardrum in 1917 while he fought with the Princess Pat regiment of Canada in France.

Colonials Break Even With Fast Brooklyn Royals

Local Club Wins Fourteenth Straight by Taking First Contest 4-1—Loss Second Game 3-2—Deegan Accepts Twenty-three Chances in the Field.

Fourteen straight ball games was the record made by the Colonial nine up until the second game of the dual bill Sunday at the Fair Grounds. Taking the first contest, 4 to 1 from the Brooklyn Royal Giants, their winning streak was broken when they lost the second game 3 to 2.

Smith was the winning pitcher in the opener. The locals were out-hit in the first 10 to 6, and in the second by the same number of safeties. McMar was the losing pitcher in the final game. Three runs in the last inning broke the local's streak.

Karis led the Colonial hitters with four hits for the day's work, getting two in each struggle. Wagner, Brooklyn Royal shortstop, led the field for the day with five hits. Matty Deegan had a wonderful day in the field, accepting 23 chances.

Countdown Win. The game was held up the first game for about a half hour and during the contest time was taken out for the drying out process. The second game was played in a drizzle.

The three runs scored in the last inning by the locals were enough to win the game but they added one in the fifth for good measure. The Giants scored their lone run in the sixth.

Although Smith allowed ten hits, he was never in very serious trouble as he kept the clouts well scattered. A double play, Deegan to Peters to O'Brien, killed the Brooklyn team's chances in the seventh.

The J. O. U. A. M. team of this city defeated the Saugerties team on Sunday, the score being 10 to 2. Dewey Van Buren, who pitched for the locals, could not be found by Saugerties, except during the fourth inning when they got their two runs. Freleigh, who started the contest for Saugerties, was knocked out of the box and was replaced by Rutherford, who furnished some good twirling for the rest of the contest.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By the Associated Press.)

Philadelphia has gained a new prominence in sports with a heavy-weight boxing bout added to its sesquicentennial celebration and baseball game played on Sunday without police interference.

According to Connie Mack, there will be no more Sunday baseball this season because of schedule difficulties but that of yesterday, when his team defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2, was a success except for a drizzle which fell throughout. Mack was armed with an injunction and Lefty Grove with a varied assortment of curves and good control. Therefore there was no interference, either from the police or the White Sox.

Cleveland's Indians, heading for New York for another "crucial" series with the Yankees, stopped long enough at the National Capital to down the Senators twice, 10 to 2, and 6 to 0. Chie and Shaute were the winning barmen. Shaute allowing only four safe hits.

There were developments of more than passing moment in and around the National League. St. Louis edged back almost into a tie with Pittsburgh for the lead by winning its eighth straight behind Jess Haines' excellent marksmanship. The Pittsburgh Giants were the victims. Frisch left the team in St. Louis Saturday and arrived at his home in New York yesterday.

"I did not desert and I have not quit baseball," he said. "I haven't been feeling well lately and want to take a good rest to regain my health. My legs have gone back on me and I just couldn't go on the field."

"I didn't have any run-in with McGraw over playing third base; I played there before."

Cincinnati, using Donohue, Lucas, May and Luque, took a double-header from Boston, 4 to 3, and 7 to 6. The first contest went 10 innings and the second 12. On Saturday the teams played 14 innings to a 2-2 tie. Therefore Cincinnati has played 38 frames to win two games from the stubborn Braves. The victories put the Reds one full game behind the leaders.

The Chicago Cubs and Guy Bush also accomplished some record baseball. The team turned in 23 assists in beating Brooklyn 3 to 0, and Bush pitched his twenty-first consecutive scoreless innings.

The Pirates played a semi-professional team in Akron and were held hitless and runless by one succeeded Frankie as captain, contributed a brace of errors to the defeat.

Manager John McGraw, of the Giants, suspended Frisch indefinitely and it may mean a day, a week, a month, or a year, he said. It was made plain that Frisch's record in the game had been good and that this would be taken into consideration in settlement of the case.

Frish left the team in St. Louis Saturday and arrived at his home in New York yesterday.

Local Soldiers Return from Camp

Kingston Artillerymen Gained Reputation for Efficiency On Account of Excellent Work During Two Weeks at Pine Camp.

The local artillerymen returned to Kingston Sunday morning from Pine Camp, Great Bend, Jefferson county, where they had been in camp for the past two weeks. All of the members report a very pleasant trip and little rain during the two weeks' stay in camp. Since last year the camp has been greatly improved and more work is to be done by next year.

All of the batteries did efficient work and it was quite remarkable how the men handled the horses since they have had none to practice on or train on before leaving for camp.

The only casualty reported during the two weeks was in Battery A. Gaudin sustained a fractured wrist when a horse became fractious and stepped on his arm.

During the camp the members of the local organization were able to visit Thousand Islands and other points of interest during their time off. Amusements during the evening provided recreation for the boys and band concerts, boxing bouts, songs and vaudeville entertainment were included in the schedule.

Gained Reputation for Efficiency.

The three local units of the 156th F. A. gained a reputation for efficient work at camp and the men handled their pieces in a most creditable manner. During one morning they fired for the 52nd Brigade and later at a dinner in New York General Marshall spoke to the 104th and 105th F. A. and told them of the good work of the 156th F. A. This work he stated was especially good since this was but the third trip of the men to camp.

Members of the First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train found a great deal of work to do in their shoulders in laying telephone wires and keeping up the line of communication. However they did their work so efficiently that they were usually finished by 12 o'clock and were relieved from duty and allowed to return to camp and after the formality of a shower bath were able to dress up and be present and review the members of the other batteries when they returned to camp late in the day from maneuvers.

Ready to Issue Challenge.

Members of the First Battalion are ready to challenge almost anyone to a game of mounted basketball, a new game which is played on horseback, as they had considerable practice during their stay at camp.

The local officers who were with the outfits were Major Hiltbrant, First Battalion and Charles Behrens, Captain-Adjutant. Battery A, Capt. LeRoy Cushman and First Lieut. Bernard V. Roach; Battery B, First Lieut. and acting captain Pekin. First Battalion Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Captain Carl Preston and First Lieut. Clinton Lawson.

The outfits arrived in town Sunday morning at 7 o'clock by special train which left the camp at 7 o'clock Saturday night.

News of the Day In Wall Street

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The Wisconsin Central had a prosperous month in July, reporting surplus of $183,815, after taxes and charges, but results for the seven months this year show a deficit of $328,010 against a deficit of $93,625 in the corresponding period of 1925.

Surplus of the Kansas City Power and Light Company for the year ended July 31, rose to $3,300,641 from $21,956,168 the year before.

Carloadings on Canadian railways in the week ended August 14, were 58,339 cars against 56,857 the preceding week and 51,879 for the same week last year. Receipts from connections were 36,016 against 36,167 in the preceding week and 33,226 in 1925.

The Philadelphia Electric Company recently installed in its Schuylkill station the largest self-cooled single-phase transformers built to date. They were manufactured by General Electric Company at its Pittsfield, Mass. plant and shipped assembled in their permanent tanks, immersed in dry oil, thus eliminating the usual drying process.

An increase of one per cent in sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States during July compared with the same month last year, is shown in statistics of 81 companies compiled by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford. The total was 792,129,000. A decline of three per cent was shown in the Middle Atlantic States including New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

GRASSHOPPER CIRCUS

THEY showed pictures of members of our family the other night," said Mr. Grasshopper. "Yes, there was a meeting of naturalists. Naturalists are creatures who study creatures such as us."

"And, of course, they study other animals and insects and birds and so forth and so on."

"So on?" asked George Grasshopper.

"Just an expression, George, meaning that they study others along the very same lines."

"But grasshoppers haven't the same lines as lions," said George Grasshopper.

"Oh, I don't mean such lines," said Mr. Grasshopper. "I mean along the ing nature creatures and trying to be learned.

"They showed pictures of the naughty Praying Mantia. You know, or at least you have heard, how she looks as though she were praying to hide from people the fact that she is really a very naughty creature. She's a humbug, though her name is Praying Mantia."

"And they showed pictures of the compound eyes of the fly, and how the fly sees the same thing so many times over—at the same time, too."

"That may sound curious, but you know what I mean. A fly has so many eyes one would say, or at least can see so many times over with the eyes he has because of their being compound eyes. And then they showed pictures of us as I have told you."

"They were splendid pictures, I heard, and the people laughed with delight over the wonderful circus stunts we could do."

"Now, that makes me think I'd like to get up a circus now," said George Grasshopper.

"The same thought that just went through my grasshopper mind," said Mr. Grasshopper.

"Let us tell the other grasshoppers about it," said George.

So Mr. Grasshopper and George Grasshopper went about and told the other grasshoppers that they were going to give a circus.

And all the grasshoppers joined in the preparations.

Some formed a band, others decided they would do tricks on twigs—pulling themselves up and over the twigs and doing really nothing short of fine trapeze stunts.

Then others began thinking of all the funny things they could say and do so they could take the parts of clowns.

Still others decided they would ride each other and have races and superlatives. And still others said they would have famous grasshopper hopping races.

They all practiced and practiced and Mr. Grasshopper was chosen as the ring master.

They invited the mothers and fathers in the grasshopper families to come, and they invited the very young grasshoppers, too.

And when they all arrived and then saw the circus—well, there was such applause and such excitement.

They, too, hopped about with excitement and cried:

"Bravo, grasshoppers, bravo!"

And Mr. Grasshopper and George Grasshopper were delighted at the success of the Grasshopper circus.

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

IN FRONT, OUT BACK

THAT going in a house at the front door and out by the back door brings strangers is a superstition practically universal in this country and Europe. Doors were most serious matters to the ancients and a decided tinge of superstition hung about them. Among the Romans, Janus, a most esteemed deity, was the god of doors. He was double-faced and, looking both ways, could watch the front and rear entrances. The door of his temple was opened only when there was war. At such times it was necessary to release his full influence to guard the entrances—the doorways—of the country.

But our superstition that going in the front door and out at the back brings strangers is evidently a survival not from any mythology, but arises from an actual experience of our barbarian ancestors, an experience not infrequent even in our own day. A barbarian fleeing from the avengers of blood or of other destruction in a friendly hut, would sneak out by the back way to the safety of the forest when he heard his pursuers approaching and the trackers, strangers to the owner of the hut, would trail him to the front door by which he had entered. If the hut had no back door—as was probable—the fugitive's necessity for avoiding observation impelled him to make one by going through the back of the building. In the middle ages, when houses generally had two doors, men were literally hunted and a fugitive going in at the front door of his friend's dwelling often literally "brought strangers" in pursuit.

Historic English Town

Wimborne is a picturesque suburb of London, situated eight miles south-west of St. Paul's. The population in 1911 was 20,000. The oldest name of Wimborne was Wimbodene. It was supposed to have been the scene of a battle in 1013 between Canute, king of Denmark, and Ethelbert, king of Kent. At Wimbodene it formed part of the manor of Northfleet. During the following centuries the manor was transferred to a number of persons. Wimborne was incorporated in 1801.

Ministers at Foreign Courts

The custom of exchanging various diplomas was unknown in ancient times. This practice grew out of the commercial dealings between European countries during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.
